

Volume III
Art, Literature, and Film

Contents

A Study of Bessie Head's A Question of Power Ayana Abdullah	6
Love and the Feminist Utopia in the African Novel Rose Acholonu	16
African Female Writers revisited: An Analysis of Form and Technique in Bessie Head's and Grace Ogot's Fiction Ify Achufusi	32
Economic Independence in the African Novel Julie Agbasiere	50
The African Women in Search of Identity and Self Realization: The Examples of the Nuruddin Farah, Buchi Emecheta, Flora Nwapa and Ngugi Wa Thiong'o Chinedu Agbasiere-Awugosi	64
Gender, Self-hood and Social Change in Nzema Ayabomo Maiden Songs Kofi E. Agovi	72
Power, Marginality, and Women being in Igbo Oral Narratives Chukwuma Azuonye	98
Yearning for the Homeland: "The Return to the Source" in Contemporary African American Women's Fiction and Visual Art Alma Jean Billingslea-Brown	136

Mature and Modern Women's Literature—Discourses of Women's Liberation or Oppression? Ingrid Bjorkman	152
Head Tells Stories: A Scandalous Emancipatory Strategy Brenda Bosman	166
Black, Green and Red: Negritude and Militancy in the Poetry Of African and African American Female Poets Debra Boyd-Buggs	182
Black World Poetry: Toward Definition and Poetics Patricia Fahamisha Brown	206
In Search of Sweetness: Ideas of the Diaspora in the Works of Ama Ata Aidoo Ipshita Chanda	228
Seizing Meaning—The Autobiographies of Ellen Kuzwayo and Emma Mashinini Margaret Daymond	252
Cleopatra Displaced: Power Dynamics in Francophone Theater Friedo Ekotto	272
Traveling with Sissie: Literature and Postcoloniality Uzoma Esonwanne	286
The African Women in Reality and Fiction: An Analogy Between the non-fictional African Women and the Fictional One in Wedlock of the Gods and The Dilemma of a Ghost T. I. Fadero	294
White Sugar, Coke and Feminism: How Not to Teach “Third	306

World” Women's Writing Susan Gardner
Culture Connections: Pan African Gender Based Consciousness In the Films of Black Women Gloria Gibson-Hudson	322
In Search of Our Own Self Discovery: Their Eyes Were Watching God LaVerne Gyant and Cathy Lyons	344
Exiles: The Female Body of Black African Women Writers Jennifer Henton	360
The Art of Things Falling Apart: Performative in the Face Of Vertigo—Bessie Head's A Question of Power Melinda Hernandez	374
The African Pilgrimage: The Response of a French Caribbean Women Poet to the Problematic of Cultural Identity Anthony Hurley	384
Patterns in the Status of Women in African Novels Dunmade Ibukun	398
Cajou par Michele Lacrosil: Reflects Dymorphobiques “au pays des merveilles” Dolores Person Lairet	410
Roots Never Die: Women's Solidarity Throughout the Africa Diaspora in Michele Maillot's L'Etoile noire Renee Larrier	418

The Monster-Machine and the White Mausoleum: Paule Marshall's Metaphores for Western Materialism Geta LeSeur	426
Mother Africa: African Women and Land in African Literature Christine Loflin	442
Conceptualizing South Africa, Conceptualizing Gender: Consciousness—Invasion in Bessie Head's A Question of Power Isabella Matsikidze	476-499